South Carolina Postcards Vol. 3 (SC) (Postcard History Series)

Howard Woody, Tom Johnson : South Carolina Postcards Vol. 3 (SC) (Postcard History Series) before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised South Carolina Postcards Vol. 3 (SC) (Postcard History Series):

Also found memories of my childhood, Phoebe CrouchBy phoebeEspecially enjoyed the section on Saluda and Edgefield since my husband, Robert Crouch, is last Crouch in his line. West Crouch was related to him. Pictures of the old town of Saluda were great. Also, in Aiken County, page 56, enjoyed so much seeing Camp Rawls, Wagener. I went to camp there as a young girl about 10 years old. A missionary, Betty Ventura from South Americal, taught me to swim in this very lake.

It look the same as in 1949. The WMU of Glenwood Heights Baptist Church in Lancaster, SC sent Girls Auxiliary there each summer.0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Five StarsBy AngelaVery nice gift

From the 1890s through the 1920s, the postcard was an extraordinarily popular means of communication, and many of the postcards produced during this "golden age" can today be considered works of art. Postcard photographers traveled the length and breadth of the nation snapping photographs of busy street scenes, documenting local landmarks, and assembling crowds of local children only too happy to pose for a picture. These images, printed as postcards and sold in general stores across the country, survive as telling reminders of an important era in America's history.

About the AuthorThis fascinating new history of West Central Carolina--Aiken, Edgefield, McCormick, Greenwood, and Saluda--showcases more than two hundred of the best vintage postcards available. Collected and interpreted by Howard Woody and Thomas L. Johnson, the images in this informative volume provide readers with an insightful survey of memorable scenes, bringing an important period of the region's history to life for visitors and members of the younger generation.
