

#3402417 in Books The Museum of Modern Art 1997-05Ingredients: Example IngredientsOriginal language:EnglishPDF # 1 12.25 x 9.00 x .25l, #File Name: 081096173396 pages | File size: 33.Mb

Christopher Mount, Peter Kenez
*audiobook | *ebooks | Download PDF | ePub | DOC*

(Read and download) Stenberg Brothers: Constructing a Revolution in Soviet Design

Stenberg Brothers: Constructing a Revolution in Soviet Design

Christopher Mount, Peter Kenez : Stenberg Brothers: Constructing a Revolution in Soviet Design before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Stenberg Brothers: Constructing a Revolution in Soviet Design:

1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. FascinatingBy Pm AbsolumThese brothers are related to me. One was killed in a 'so called' accident, but I would doubt it. Their father Swedish and mother Russian. Very talented artists and sculptors. An excellent book if you can get it.0 of 1 people found the following review helpful. Great Poster BookBy MartiVery interesting posters from Russia and beautifully printed. Terrific book for anyone interested in graphic design, art, political and social statements.0 of 1 people found the following review helpful. Awesome bookBy MerlinGreat retrospect on the Stenberg Brothers unique approach to poster design!They were ahead of their time from a pure design perspective.

The Stenberg brothers, like their contemporaries Aleksandr Rodchenko and El Lissitzky, were artists of immensely varied interests and eclectic skills. They were sculptors, architects, and stage and costume designers, and were enamored of the film and montage theories developed in the suddenly burgeoning Soviet film industry. As seen in this book's superb colorplates, they brought to film poster design an extraordinary compositional dynamism, originality, and contrast of scale, employing many of the artistic conventions of the Constructivist movement to great effect.

About the Author Vladimir and Georgii Stenberg were born, respectively, in 1899 and 1900 in Moscow. As teenagers, the brothers studied theater design and decorative painting at the Stroganov School of Applied Art. Their professional collaboration began in 1917, when they worked together on the restoration of the stage at the Moscow Club of Railway Workers. They helped establish the First Working Group of Constructivists, were regularly commissioned to decorate the streets of Moscow for mass holidays, designed sets and costumes for the Moscow Music Hall and Bolshoi Theater, and created film posters for the government film agency Goskino. Georgii died young in a motorcycle accident in 1933; Vladimir remained a creative worker until his death in 1982.